Haven Christian Academy is an excellent school that prepares students to succeed in college. I am confident in saying this as I have three daughters, Sarah, a 2008 graduate of Haven, Rebekah, an eighth grader and Hannah, a sixth grader. Sarah is currently a sophomore at the Honors College of the University of Arkansas pursuing a double major in political science and broadcast journalism. She received academic and swimming scholarships. She is taking sixteen credit hours this semester and is enrolled for eighteen credit hours for next semester. She has maintained a 4.0 grade average to date. She is also a vital member of the University of Arkansas swim team, participating in all of the meets. To say she must be disciplined and have good time management skills is an understatement. Haven has provided her with these skills, and an excellent education.

When your first child leaves for college, you wonder if you have given them the opportunity to acquire all the tools they need to succeed. I think when your child is in a small school you wonder even more. I have no doubts. Sarah confirmed my decision when she made me promise to never take her sisters out of Haven, saying the education she received at Haven is superior to a majority of her classmates. Haven is an excellent school, continuing to improve everyday, providing children an opportunity to succeed in life.
